CANADIAN AFFAIRS.

A radical change is about to take place throughout Canada since Sir John Macdonald has gone. While he lived, Macdonald held the Conservative reins to interfere with his ideas of Conserva- ern Arizona. tive supremacy; he stemmed the strong current of Liberal opposition with such indomitable energy and success, that political enemies-the name of "Chief- the way repeatedly. tan," and during a lifelong political career, was regarded as the ablest man in the Dominion of Canada. To him alone is due the credit of saving the Confederation from dissolution. He bound each province together with railroad iron, developed his financial as well as political resoures in every hamlet and town, and maintained until death, despite the formidable opposition of the Liberal element, the iron hand of Imperialism throughout his broad domain. He was a son of Britain through and through, and his sole aim was the furtherance of his queen's interests throughout her Canadian realms. He was a practical politician in the strongest sense, his influence on all questions was purely mechanical and he allowed that the costume is already in vogue in nothing to hamper the sway of his the wild west. The jewels consist of 44-Conservative rule that was in his power to meet. As Premier of Canada he filled his post as a dutiful soldier of England; he fought for her against the rising power of Canadian Independence, and, by brilliant political strategies, kept the so-called Annexationists well within his reach. To rule Canada with the firm hand that he did, Macdonald evils are remedied. thought it best to assume a belligerent attitude towards these states, and he never let an opportunity pass whereby for the prompt manner in which he rehe could show his proud defiance of placed highwayman Miller behind the us. Mr. reasons alone the United States felt as Paul, in the capture of criminals. proud of him as an oppotent.

Now that his name is all that remains it will not be able to stem the tide of public opinion as did the man who bore it. With the fall of the Conservative party, there will be radical changes in the government of Canada, The Liberal element is a unit in favor of abolishing tariff and trade restrictions with this country; it is the rising and progressive element of that country, and more, it is purely American in sentiment. Thereforeunless the mother country steps in at once, and with dire threats, forbids politics and society. Seems that playing the growd gathered on the streets at the more intimate acquaintance with the American eagle, the stone monuments indicating the 49th parallel may shortly be surmounted with the Stars and Stripes, under the shadow of which don-Cumming affair, is that an Amer- hed to suspend him pending a hearing Canuck and Yank may possibly be found

On the whole, the political cloud hanging over Canada's future looks dark and gloomy for a centinuation of the late Premier's system of government, the abolishment of which can mean nothing less than dissolution of the Canadian provinces.

The Ways of Old Time Bostos Visiting in Boston seems in old times to have been attended with some difficulties, and if the inferences which one would naturally draw from certain entries in the old records are correct, the authorities of the town were not accustomed to be overgiven to the encourage ment of hospitality, whatever may have been the case with individuals. For a meeting of the selectmen of the town held on Nov. 19, 1740, for instance, the record begins as follows: "Mrs. Rebekah Young, Appearing Informs that She with One Child is lately come into this Town, from Harwich to Visit her Sister, that She intends to return in the Spring, & that She hath brought with her to the Value of Two Hundred Pounds in Money and House hold Goods.

"Liberty is Granted her to tarry until the Spring, and then to return to Harwich with her Child or give security to Indemnify the Town.

The good folk of Boston were in a perpetual panic in those days lest they should get upon their hands to take care of paupers that really belonged to some other community, and it is very likely that they had good reason for their fear and their precautions. One would suppose, however, that a woman who could oring with her a couple of hundred pounds in gold and gear might be of sufficient importance to be spared the formality of appearing before the selectnen of the town. It would be interesting to know how small an amount of belongings would have admitted her to the privilege of passing the winter with her ister. - Boston Courier.
